

History:

For fifty years Teddy Wainwright owned a 400-acre potato and turf farm partially located in South Portland, Maine. In January 1999, Teddy Wainwright sold 150 acres of his farm to the city of South Portland for $990,000.00 to be used for recreational purposes. Originally 40 acres was developed into fields: four softball, two baseball, and six soccer. Now, fifteen years later, the fields are still being used for sporting events and more. The South Portland Parks and Recreation Department has been able to add in a playground, skating rink, and several trails for walking, skiing, and snowshoeing. None of which could have been done without the generous donations made by community members.